Yordan Yordanov

Full-Stack Web Development · Exploring AI & Agents

ABOUT ME

I build full-stack web apps with Next.js and Vercel. I came into development after completing courses in manual and automation QA, which left me with a habit of caring about how things break and writing code defensively. These days most of my energy goes into AI and autonomous agents - I love figuring out how to make them actually useful. The projects below are hobby builds where I experiment with ideas, ship real features, and keep improving my skills and knowledge.
